Our Daily Bread

Unexpressed Gratitude

Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good! . . .

Let the redeemed of the Lord say so. —

Psalms 107:1-2

Today's Scripture: Psalm 107:31-43

The whole reason for saying thanks is to let the giver of a gift know how much you appreciate something. Author G. B. Stern once said, "Silent gratitude isn't much use to anyone."

When our son was young, he sometimes needed to be reminded that avoiding eye contact, looking down at his feet, and mumbling some unintelligible words was not an acceptable "thank you." And after many years of marriage, my husband and I are still learning that it's important for us to continually express our gratitude to each other. When one of us feels appreciative, we try to verbalize it—even if we've said it many times before about the same thing. William Arthur Ward said, "Feeling gratitude and not expressing it is like wrapping a present and not giving it."

Showing our gratitude is obviously important in human relationships, but it's even more essential in our relationship with God. As we think about the many blessings we have received, do we express our thanks to Him throughout the day? And when we think of the amazing gift of His death and resurrection for forgiveness of our sins, do our hearts bubble over with awe and thanksgiving? (Rom. 6:23; 2 Cor. 9:15).

Take the reminder in Psalm 107:1 to heart each day: "Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good!"

By: Cindy Hess Kasper

Reflect & Pray

How great should be our gratitude to God our unseen Friend! The volume of His gifts to us we cannot comprehend. —Hess

God's highest Gift should awaken our deepest gratitude.

Paws Corner

by Sam Mazzotta
PAW'S CORNER: I live in an area where eastern equine encephalitis and West Nile Virus are active. On my walks, I make sure to wear plenty of bug spray to prevent being bitten by a mosquito infected with either disease. Are my dogs at risk of catching it? Can I use bug spray on their fur? - Shellie in Worcester, MA
DEAR SHELLIE: While dogs (and cats) are at risk of catching either disease, most pets recover fully, especially with veterinary treatment (which is mainly supportive, to keep them strong while their bodies fight the infection).

Humans can get seriously ill from either EEE or West Nile Virus, so I'm glad you're using plenty of bug repellent. Mosquitoes are very active just before sunset, when most of us prefer to take our pets for walks during the hot summer months.

However, pets do not tolerate bug spray made for humans very well. (Citronella candles also can be very irritating.) They still should have some protection from mosquitoes, as these flying pests also carry diseases that can be very harmful to pets, like heartworm.

Pet-friendly repellents are available at the pet store or through your vet's office. You can try natural repellents like lemon juice (try mixing it half-and-half with water in a spray bottle and applying to your dogs' coat just before walking), crushed peppermint leaves, or rosemary.

Keep up with your pets' heartworm medication and check them for ticks and fleas after each walk, too. This will reduce their risk of getting a serious illness from an outdoor pest.

• "Whenever a stew or soup recipe calls for whole herbs to be used and then taken out later, I put them in a tea infuser. I could never seem to get them all before, and inevitably someone would be served a whole bay leaf or such. This makes it foolproof." - J.R. in GA

Recipe Corner

1/4 cup quinoa
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon olive oil
1 small onion, chopped
1 large clove garlic, chopped
20 oz. package ground turkey
1 tablespoon tomato paste
1 tablespoon hot pepper sauce
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 egg
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon water

• Bring quinoa and water to a boil in a saucepan over high heat. Reduce heat to medium-low, cover, and simmer until quinoa is tender, and water has been absorbed, about 15 to 20 minutes. Set aside to cool. Preheat oven to 350°. Heat olive oil in skillet over medium heat. Stir in onion; cook and stir until onion has softened and turned translucent, about 5 minutes. Add garlic and cook for another minute; remove from heat to cool. Stir turkey, cooked quinoa, onions, tomato paste, hot sauce, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire, egg, salt, and pepper in large bowl until well combined. Mixture will be very moist. Shape into a loaf on foil lined baking sheet. Combine brown sugar, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire, and 1 teaspoon water in small bowl. Rub paste over top of meatloaf. Bake in preheated oven until no longer pink in the center, about 50 minutes. An instant-read thermometer inserted into the center should read at least 160°. Let meatloaf cool for 10 minutes before slicing and serving.

Donna's Day

Creative family fun

Add Flowers to Make Your Life Bloom

"You can have your cake and blossoms too," was the greeting my friend Janet proclaimed when she arrived for coffee on my deck last week.

Carrying a freshly baked Blueberry-Lime Pound Cake recipe from Fine Cooking magazine, the allure of her culinary presentation wasn't just about the yummy cake. Ringing the confection were eye-popping clusters of bright orange and yellow organic nasturtiums. The delightful decoration of natural blooms she had just picked from her garden turned a simple get-together into an event.

Tap into the power of fresh flowers that are in full bloom right now. Let your kids pick their favorites and enjoy "flower play" as you create something together. It can be as easy as tossing rose petals down the center of your dinner table. There's an idea for everyone.

1. Set a pretty bloom and floating candles in a clear glass bowl or wide-mouthed vase half-filled with water. Set on a patio table and light the candles for an al-fresco family supper.

2. Tuck an aromatic gardenia in your daughter's hair for an eye-catching 'do. No need for perfume with nature's floral scent.

3. Press a flower in a summer journal. It will be a treasured keepsake when you thumb through the pages this winter.

4. Make a basic arrangement in a water-filled vase following the simple principle of using a focal flower, such as a rose, and adding a few smaller flowers, such as daisies, along with a pretty vine or hosta leaves. When kids do the creating, the look will be less contrived and more informal. Name the flowers as you clip and arrange them together.

5. At a family party, top an ice-cream cone or cupcakes with edible flowers such as pansies and johnny jump-ups. Or, for a unique presentation, arrange a few nontoxic flowers in a narrow jar or vase, and place it in the center space of an angel food cake. © 2020 Donna Erickson

Outdoor Opportunities By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Different Options for Fall Excursions: The Panhandle Trail and Lake Wilhelm's Upper Pool
 (Part 2 of 4)

There are many reasons why I like riding and walking on rails-to-trails projects. These trail corridors, which are constructed on former railroad right-of-ways, typically do not exceed a 1% incline grade (one foot of rise for every 100-feet traveled), due to the amount of locomotive power required to pull heavily loaded trains up these hills. That is why many rails-to-trails projects seem like you are steadily climbing for miles and miles, because you actually are. (There are exceptions, such as the Stavich Bike Trail, which follows a former trolley right-of-way and has portions that exceed a 1% incline.) Most rails-to-trails projects provide incline charts on their websites and in their promotional literature, which clearly show the incline percentages for each portion of the trail. This information enables riders/walkers to anticipate what's coming up ahead. Through experience, I've learned to look at these incline charts when planning our bike rides, especially when we're completing a longer trail in multiple sections, so we can ride the significant uphill portions on the way out to our turnaround point (when you have the most energy) and then you have the luxury of the downhill grade on the way back. Frequently, you'll find you don't actually realize how much elevation you've slowly gained on the way out, until you ride back down the same extended grade and get to take advantage of the leisurely downhill with some coasting included.

After completing the eastern third of the 29.5-mile Panhandle Trail (PT) on April 24, we skipped a Friday's ride on May 8, due to the fact winter weather decide to return for one last hurrah. My son and I went back out on Friday, May 22, and completed the middle third of the PT, riding west from the parking area at the Primrose/Noblestown Road Crossing (MM 8.8) by the Fort Cherry Ambulance Station (a few miles west of McDonald, PA), over past Burgettstown. We turned around approximately 1.5 miles west of Burgettstown at the top of the grade (MM 18.4), where a recently installed natural gas pipeline crosses the PT. Our turnaround was slightly more than ¼-mile east of the Dinsmore Road parking area. This middle third of the PT traverses Washington County and took us through several miles of rolling reclaimed strip-mine lands and past quaint small towns, such as Midway, Bulger, and Joffre.

With two-thirds of the PT completed, we were anxious to complete the final third on June 5. Having reviewed the incline chart, my son and I decided it was prudent to meet at the Harmon Creek parking area, just off US-22, near Weirton, WV. Not wanting to skip any portion of the entire PT, we initially rode west for just under a mile to the trail's unceremonious western terminus at a pile of gravel, before heading eastbound on the PT's long, gradual ascent. The first 4-miles in Hancock County, WV paralleled Harmon Creek and my son caught sight of a rather large beaver by the waterway that I somehow missed as we rode past. The next 6-miles in Washington County, PA took us primarily through wooded areas, which I'm sure will be even more scenic, once the leaves turn colors in the upcoming weeks. We eventually reached our turnaround at the natural gas pipeline crossing, just east of the Dinsmore Road parking area. The 10-mile ride back to our vehicles was a breeze, because it was almost all downhill, and we only stopped briefly to take a few photos by the interesting railroad marker at the PA/WV state line. After three trips and close to 60-miles on our hybrid bikes, we were happy to have ridden the entire Panhandle Trail and I would highly encourage anyone looking for an alternative biking/walking destination within a reasonable drive of Lawrence County, to check it out. Additional info including a map, incline chart, and detailed mile marker summary can be found online at: www.panhandletrail.org

While pedaling and perambulating give your legs a workout, I find it's always good to mix in a regular paddling excursion to provide your upper body with an equal opportunity. With the sheer number of kayaks you see on roof racks, in truck beds, and loaded on trailers, it's very apparent many folks agree. Like many paddlers, I'm always in search of new waters to quietly explore by human propulsion. One waterway we have made a regular destination in 2020 is the upper pool of Lake Wilhelm at Goddard State Park in neighboring Mercer County. Most folks are familiar with the vast majority of Lake Wilhelm, which stretches almost 6-miles from the I-79 bridges, all the way down to the dam near Sandy Lake, PA. This is primarily the realm of pontoon boats and fishermen, but there is an upper, less visited pool that stretches westward from the I-79 bridges another 1.5-miles where outboard motors are not permitted. Next week, we'll take a closer look at this less-traveled water. God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2020

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson

• If you have a plant cutting you are trying to root in water, here's a tip to keep the end from resting on the bottom of your container: Use a twist tie wrapped around the stem on one side and hooked over the edge of the container on the other.

• You can use an old toothbrush or nail brush to get grime out of the hinge area of the toilet seat.

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson

• "Whenever I get new e-mail addresses, I always add them to my online address book. I also write them in my old-fashioned paper
address book. Sounds like a no-brainer, but you'd be surprised by how many people rely on their e-mail address book to remember all those addresses. It just takes one time for a computer virus to erase everything – not to mention if something happens to your hard drive. Just a reminder!"
